AMERICAN BIC NAVAL CUNS

Increased Efficiency Must be Looked For in Heavier Projectiles,

AND A STRONGER POWDER.

o Says Admiral O'Neil - Submarine Boats Still in Experimental Stage Now Getting Cheap Armor.

Washington, Oct. 23 .- Increased efficiency in our big naval guns must be looked for from the use of heavier projectiles and the production of powder possessing high ballistic qualities, rather than from an increase in the weight and dimension of the guns themselves, says Rear Admiral, Charles O'Neil, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, in his annual report. The latest types of guns are so large and heavy, he says, that it is inadvisable to make an increase in either respect and the bureau now will confine itself to developing weightier projectiles and powder of greater energy. The only material change in the system of gun construction last year was a provision that guns of and above six inches in caliber for greater safety shall have an inner and outer tube, instead of a solid forging, as

Admiral O'Neil believes that the ordnance equipment of United States naval vessels is fully up to the highest stand-ard maintained abroad for vessels of corresponding age and class, and says he knows of no guns affoat, or soon to be put affoat, equal in energy to those manufactured for the United States navy.

Admiral O'Nell believes that the subject of submarine boats is being given undue prominence. If these boats are shown to have any value, he says, it will be as an adjunct to the system of coast defense. They cannot and will not, he continues, take the place of naval vessels of regular type, or ren-der a less number necessary. Submar-ine boats, he says, have not yet emerged from the experimental stage. The use of torpedoes on large vessels has been practically discontinued, no provision having been made for them in the latest battleships and cruisers.
Admiral O'Neil says that the latest

The following testimony, given before the Schley court of inquiry Tuesday, was received too late for publication in our issue of yesterday:

Replying to further questions, witness said he was not in the presence of Commodore Schley during the whole of the reconnanisance of the Massachu Lieut. Potts came into pilot during the conversation and took some

RAYNOR READS POTTS' TESTI-MONY.

At this point Mr. Raynor read to the witness a portion of the testimony given by Mr. Potts wherein he referred to the conversation between Commo dore Schley and Capt. Higginson as to going in for the bombardment, and "Were you present at that conversation?"

No," answered the witness, "that conversation must have been when they stepped outside the pilot-house. Potts was then there a short time with us." Were you present at any conversatnon at all between Commodore Schley and Lieut. Potts or were you present at any time when Comme made any remarks during each time 'No, sir; I followed them right out

FLAT DENIAL OF STATEMENT. "Then you don't know anything about the conversation about which Potts has testified that the Commodore said, 'Gentlemen, we are very conspicuous objects here, let's get out of it'?"

"I never heard such conversation. I stood on top of the forward thirteenturret. The commodore called to 'Boy, that's a bad place for you. Step in here.' I afterward asked why and he said the concussion would hurt me. I had no serious intention of remaining. Potts was present, I think, giving the ranges at the time." Describing the battlie of July 3, Mr. Graham said that Commodore Schley had gotten to a position in front of the conning tower as soon as the nose of the first Sppanish ships appeared. "The Brooklyn was at that time," he said. pointing almost north. Lieut. Simp on had fired the first gun from the eight-inch turrets and calling to Com modore Schley, said 'How is that'

To this the commodore replied, 'Didn't see it, Simpson, but keep at it.'
Continuing, the witness said that by the time the Brooklyn had completed her turn (and he thought the turn had been continuously to the right), the three leading Spanish ships had emerged from the harbor. The witness thought they had come out in fan-

SCHLEY ABSOLUTELY COOL.

"The commodore," he said at this point, "stood all the time on the side of the fires so he could see what was doing. He was absolutely cool and sent continuous messages to the men to cheer them up. When Ellis's head was off he wiped some of the blo from his own person, and as the men picked the body up to throw it over, while the rest of us stood horrified, he calmly said: 'Don't throw that body over. Take it below and we'll give it a Christian burial.'

"Did you ever see Commodore Schley when he appeared to be laboring under any mental excitement?"

"Oh. no. He was jovial and goodnatured at all times and I did not ob-serve the least trace of excitement or anxiety except at one time. That was when it looked as if the Colon might get He expressed fear that that might occur and seemed much con-cerned. I remember that he discussed with Capt. After being out for twenty minutes the members returned and Admiral Dewey an-nounced the decision in the following terms: "The court decides that the questions intended to impugn the credibility of a witness; intended to prove any point regarding the movements of the Brooklyn during the battle of July

3: intended to prove any statements made by Commodore Schley or conver-sations held with Commodore Schley, which have a material bearing upon the matters designated by the precept are admissible, provided such conversa-tions or statements occurred in the presence of and within the hearing of

Mr. Raynor then repeated his question asking him to repeat the conversation, which Mr. Graham did, as fol-

"Capt. Evans came into the cabin. I cat at a round table in the center. Commodore Schley got up and shook hands with Capt. Evans, and the latter said: 'Schley, did you see Philip turn around and run out of the fight?' The commodore said: 'No, neither did you. He did not run out of the fight.' Capt. Evans saald, 'Oh, yes, he did. I saw him.' Capt. Evans said he was in the next ship and saw him. The commodore said: 'It was not the Texas at all. The Texas was in the fight all the time. The ship you saw turn around was the DID NOT HEAR HODGSON TALK.

When the court began its afternoon ession Mr. Raynor announced that he had no more questions to ask Mr. Gra-ham. Capt. Lemly asked no questions. Mr. Graham said in reply to questions by the court that during the conversation between Capt. Sigsbee and Commo dore Schley the squadron had been heading toward Santiago and that dur ing the battle off Santiago he had heard no conversation between the commo-

Mr. Graham was then excused and Dennis J. Cronin was called. He was orderly to Commodore Schley during was present when Capt. Sigsbee cam the Santiago campaign and testified he

"I heard the commodore ask Capt. Sigsbee something that I could not un-derstand," said the witness, "and I heard the captain answer, 'The Spanish fleet is not in there."

The witness said he had seen the turn of the Brooklyn July 3.

"Did you see Commodore Schley at any time during the battle?"

"Yes, sir. I saw him when he was Lieut, Simpson had occupied position in the forward turret when the battle of July 3 began, and he fired the first gun. He was unable to testify concerning the loop because he had had to repair his guns.

"FIRE DELIBERATELY, BOYS."

Again, when he saw the Vizcava's re slackened he heard the commodore give the order: "Fire deliberately, boys." He had at that time observed the Vizcaya turn toward the Brook-lyn, but she had received a shot which turned her to the shore. At this point the witness described the coming up of the Oregon.

"It was after the Maria Teresa han dropped astern and we had only two ships to contend with, I got the cry that one of the Spanish ships was or fire and heading for the beach. I tried to see her, I looked back and could see nothing for the smoke. Then 1 heard the cry very shortly afterward, Another one is on fire, heading for the

One ittle chap had thrust his fingers in the mug and was licking them with such approving smacks. This opened the way for me to say, 'Are you not afraid of the effects of coffee on the little folks?' The mother explained that it was Postum Food Coffee made at Battle Creek, Michigan, and remarked, We think there is nothing like it. Then she ex-plained how the new coffee had weaned them away from the use of the old-fashioned coffee and tea because 'it is so wholesome.' I drank it there for the first time, and was delighted, not only with the delicious flavor, but the after-satisfaction it gives. One day I was peaking with our family physician's vife about Postum, when her daughter emarked, 'Yes, Mamma, we are out of Postum, and I have used coffee for the last two mornings and it always brings the tired feeling and troubles my stom-ach and bowels, but Postum makes me

In one home they served Postum in such a way that it was tasteless. I have found that Postum boiled sometimes five minutes, and sometimes ten, is nothing more than spoiled water, but spoonsful for each cup, and boiled fifteen ar twenty minutes it becomes a tried and proven breakfast favorite, and for
